Rejuvenating Kukkarahalli Lake

DC instructs panel to submit pre-feasibility report

DC D. Randeep is seen presiding over the Kukkarahalli Lake Expert Committee meeting at his office this morning as Committee Members Environmentalist U.N. Ravi Kumar, KSPCB Environment Scientist Geetha, MCC Superintending Engineer Suresh Babu, UoM Executive Engineer Kishore Chandra, Information Department Asst. Director Raju and others look on.

Mysuru, July 26 (RK&VNS)- Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep has instructed the Kukkarahalli Lake Expert Committee to submit a pre-feasibility report within a week regarding setting up of a Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) at Kukkarahalli Lake and installing a 7.5 km pipeline to draw sewage water from Hebbal Industrial Area and surrounding areas to be treated at Kukkarahalli STP.

Presiding over the meeting with the Expert Committee at his office this morning, DC Randeep discussed three issues with respect to drawing sewage water from Hebbal area and treating the same before being let into Kukkarahalli Lake, installation of 7.5 km pipeline for the purpose, setting up an STP and constructing basic facilities at the lake premises.

Members of the Expert Committee, while discussing on the issue, said that Rs. 3.5 crore was the estimated money to install a pipeline from Hebbal to Kukkarahalli Lake and added that over Rs. 9 crore would be needed to construct an STP on 1.5 acre of land at Kukkarahalli Lake.

Later, Randeep said that so much funding would be a problem and urged the committee to come out with alternative plans to reduce the expenditure. To this, MCC Superintending Engineer Suresh Babu said that the STP could be constructed at a much lower cost than Rs. 9 crore. Committee Member and environmentalist U.N. Ravi Kumar suggested the DC to extend the pipeline till Lingambudhi Lake to which the DC replied he will look into the matter.

Stray dogs maul baby
to death in Mandya hospital

Mandya, July 26 (Nagaiah& BCT)- In a heart-rending incident, a new-born baby girl was mauled to death by stray dogs inside the Mandya Institute of Medical Sciences last night. The child's body, with freshly severed umbilical cord, was found this morning with scratch and bite marks all over its body.

A pack of dogs had entered the hospital building last night and came near the blood bank where the baby was abandoned by its parents. After attacking the baby in the night, the dogs returned this morning.

Spotting the baby being pulled around by the dogs, some patients shooed away the canines and alerted the hospital authorities. They shifted the baby to a ward and was declared dead. A search was launched and they found no baby missing from hospital beds. Hospital authorities have now stated that the baby might have been abandoned by its parents inside the hospital.

Money laundering: Pak terrorist gets 7 years RI

Two militants were arrested in Mysuru in Oct. 2006

Fahad Ali Hussain

Bengaluru, July 26- Eleven years after the arrest of a Pakistan-based terrorist in Mysuru, the Principal City Civil and Sessions Court in Bengaluru yesterday convicted Mohammed Fahad Hai under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, (PMLA) and sentenced him to seven years of rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 10,000. The conviction became the first for Enforcement Directorate under the PMLA Act.

Judge Basavaraj S. Sappannanavar also directed the authorities to confiscate cash from his bank account amounting to Rs. 44,174 along with the interest, which is estimated to add up to Rs. 90,470.

The case dates back to 2006 when on the basis of information that certain terrorists from Pakistan are planning terrorist activities in Mysore, a Police squad kept watch near the High Tension Power Line at Vijayanagar Ring Road.

On the night of 26/10/2006 at about 11:45 pm, a Police officer noticed that two persons were coming by a Hero Puch two-wheeler, and stopped them for enquiry.

Flourishing fakes

Magic shows, particularly those performed before gullible assembly of people anywhere, anytime and magicians are always a great hit keeping both kids and adults glued to their seats. The famous postulate of economics namely The law of diminishing marginal utility (stating that as a person increases consumption of a product, at one go, while keeping consumption of other products constant, there is a decline in the marginal utility that person derives from consuming each additional unit of that product), modified to read as "The law of diminishing marginal excitement and happiness" seems to be belied when it comes to witnessing a good magic show. Irrespective of the alertness and intelligence of his audience, the USP (Unique Selling Proposition) of the jadugar is to make all unreal phenomena on stage appear real, leaving no doubt in their minds.

Some may equate magic with sorcery, justifiably so if the action is marked by fraud and invites punishment as provided by law. While science is invariably backed by strength of evidence in order to carry conviction, magic does the same through illusion. Anthropologists Edward Tylor (1832-1917) and James George Frazer (1854-1941) have thus suggested that magic and science are opposite. There is no gainsaying that magic draws far greater number of patrons than science, in spite of all-too-visible achievements of scientists.

Magic, as both a livelihood to its practitioners and means of entertainment to the masses that assemble at its venue, is harmless as long as the action is confined to the stage (or the congested space on the roadside in case of the street-bound jadugar). The fun from make-believe shows of magicians as professionals ends with the equally magic-like prowess of the fraudulent crooks in society, adept in faking everything and anything that sells well, no matter its price tag and mere imitation. Saying that highly rated and largely patronised products as well as services are faked for making a fast buck. Sportswear, electronic devices, jewellery including high cost precious stones, fancied brands of alcoholic drinks, enchanting perfumes, and what have you, have opened unlimited opportunities in the flourishing world of fakes.

But for the willing patronage of the mass of easy-to-fool consuming public, genuine consumer goods would never have been stumped by their fakes. Not much harm done in this scenario compared to the fake doctors treating their captive victims. The disclosure by Karnataka Health Minister in the Legislative Council recently about 2,869 fake doctors detected in the State doesn't need to be said more.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Whether it was considered powerful or polluting, menstrual blood, and therefore menstruation itself, has been subject to certain controls by human society. In India today arguably all women have experienced these, mostly through forms of exclusion. Depending on who you are and where you are from, you may not enter your kitchen, place of worship or touch iron while menstruating. Some women may even be forced to sit outside of their houses or not bathe during their period. Many of us educated, 'empowered' women eschew these beliefs, so it is understandable why some of us, faced with the prospect of paid menstrual leave, wonder how this is not a similar system of exclusion from the workplace. — Ranjitha Gunasekharan in The New Indian Express.

The Speakerhat !

Santa Fe: Atari, a legendary gaming company best known for the classic Atari 2600 video game console, has recently showcased its newest creation, a high-tech baseball cap with Bluetooth speakers embedded in its brim.

We've seen all kinds of wacky examples of wearable tech, from the world's first vibrating jeans, to a self-drying jacket and a solar-powered coat, but nothing quite as straightforward as the 'Speakerhat.' As the name suggests, Atari's latest creation is a hat with small speakers in it, allowing the wearer to blast their favourite music out loud. The Speakerhat was developed in collaboration with Audiowear, and, while technical details are still bleak. The hat has two small speakers on the underside of its brim, as well as a built-in microphones taking phone calls and voice commands. It's not going to be the most private phone call, unless you're wearing a Helmfon helmet on top of the hat. The Speakerhat is powered by a concealed rechargeable lithium battery, and also features a universal control button and an LED indicator.

New cancer drugs turn patients' hair dark again

Madrid: Cancer therapy is known to cause patients' hair to fall off, but a few new cancer drugs apparently have a completely different side effect – they restore pigment in older people's gray hair. Spanish researchers testing three new cancer drugs — Keytruda, Opdivo and Tecentriq — for negative side-effects in cancer patients made a very surprising discovery. After using the drugs, 14 of the 52 patients involved in the study saw their gray hair go brown or black again. The findings were recently reported in a paper published in the JAMA medical journal. Dr. Noelia Rivera, a dermatologist at Autonomous University of Barcelona, said that when the first test subject reported the change in hair colour, doctor thought it was just an isolated case. But then they checked other patients' photos from before the treatment and noticed the same thing. Dr. Rivera warned people not to try these new cancer drugs just to combat the effects of aging on hair, as they also have other, much less pleasant side-effects.

VOICE OF THE READER

Introduce circular bus routes without touching CBS

Sir,

At present, city buses unnecessarily travel around Mysore Palace, Pathashala, Hardinge Circle and City Bus Stand (CBS). The buses that end its journey in CBS should ONLY enter the city bus stand; rest of the buses should NOT enter CBS at all like in Bengaluru.

For instance, Route No. 20 from Sharadadevinagar to JP Nagar goes all the way to CBS roaming around the Palace. Why not directly via Ballal Circle? No one travelling from JP Nagar and Chamundipuram would use this route to Sharadadevinagar.

Earlier, we had Route No. 10 which did not enter CBS; now a new variant 10C has been introduced again to roam around city bus stand to go from JP Nagar to Infosys wasting fuel and time, thus causing congestion in Central Business District (CBD).

What is needed is end-to-end city connectivity by buses without entering city bus stand except the ones which end their journey there and running like Metro with 2-3 minutes frequency during peak hours and 5-10 minutes frequency during non-peak hours. With ITS which is perfectly working, it would be as good as Metro and predictable.

I did my schooling in Marimallappa's. Till now, there are no buses for school children of Marimallappa's and Sadvidya. Kids have to walk all the way to CBS wasting 10-15 minutes of time crossing chaotic Santhepet. Buses have to be routed in these kind of educational areas for the convenience of a large number of students.

We also need circular bus routes like the Kendriya Saarige of BMTC or K-Series connecting say Chamundipuram to Siddartha Layout, Udayagiri, Vijayanagar etc. Will the authorities concerned and our elected representatives wake up and change the age-old routing?

Supreme Court to consider CID report on alleged defrauding of Van Ingen's property on Aug. 1

New Delhi, July 26- The Supreme Court will consider the CID report on the alleged defrauding of over Rs. 500 crore worth properties of Mysuru-based taxidermist Edwin Joubert Van Ingen on Aug. 1. A Three-Judge Bench, presided by Justice Ranjan Gogoi, agreed to consider the matter, though senior advocate Mahesh Jethmalani, representing Michael Floyd Eshwer, who claimed himself to be an adopted son of Van Ingen and thus the legal heir of the properties, urged the Apex Court to let the High Court of Karnataka decide the issue.

A CID inquiry was ordered by the High Court after Eshwer sought direction for quashing an FIR registered against him by Van Ingen with Nazarbad Police Station in Mysuru on Mar. 2, 2013. Yesterday, the Bench, also comprising Justices L. Nageswara Rao and Navin Sinha, took on record the submission made by advocate Joseph Aristotle, who said the CID report had been filed in a sealed envelope.

The Apex Court was hearing a petition filed by Tilly Gifford, who identified herself as niece of Van Ingen. Van Ingen, who died a bachelor at the age of 101 on Mar. 12, 2013, had lodged the FIR against Eshwer alleging cheating, fraud and forgery after realising that some of his properties were allegedly taken over by Eshwer.

Subsequently, the High Court on June 19, 2014 not only quashed the FIR at the preliminary stage of the investigation but also directed the Karnataka Government for restoration of possession of the 'Bissal Munti House,' located in Nazarbad and 220 acres of plantation and wildlife trophies of the taxidermist with Eshwer.

Gifford, a French national, approached the Apex Court. She contended the properties cannot be transferred in the name of the accused without obtaining mandatory permission from the RBI since Van Ingen was a British national till his death.

Irregularities in Vani Vilas Water Works

Tender has been awarded only after discussion in Council: EE

Mysuru, July 26- The Executive Engineer (EE) of Vani Vilas Water Works (VVWW) has clarified that no irregularities has occurred with regard to the repair of faulty leaking pipes. The allegations that the contract had been awarded, bills had been paid violating the rules and while awarding the contract, the Council had been misled are all false, said the EE in a clarifications.

The tender was released only after bringing it to the notice of the Council, where a discussion was held on the subject, he has said.

The Corporation had given the contract to JUSCO to remodel, manage and maintain 24X7 water supply system to all the Wards in the Mysuru city. From April 1, 2015, the MCC took over the distribution of water and on piecework basis, the work was being attended to. Later, to stop the leakage of water, the work was awarded through e-tender process, justified the EE.

To award the contract, the tender-bearing no: MCC/VVWS/EE/GO/T.N.19/2015-16/1094/ dated: 08.02.2016 and revised Tender No. MCC/VVWS/EE/GO/T.N.19/2015-16/1769/dated:17.02.2016, the advertisements had been released.

The last date for submitting the tender was March 2, 2016 and the last date for the opening of the technical bid was March 4, 2016, he has stated in the clarification.

Based on the tender, the qualified bidder was given the contract and Rs. 19.19 lakh was released monthly. Now, the water is being distributed to all the Wards including the ones in the extensions.

When the tender was called for the first time, the estimate for a month was done and based on that the contract was given for a year. Based on this, the bills were being settled. All this was brought to the notice of the Council. However, a few who are working against the interest of the Corporation, are hurling false accusations, clarified the EE.

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Explaining about horse and races, in this week's Pet Talk, Maneka says: While horse racing can never be entirely safe for the animals, a zero-tolerance drug policy, turf (grass) tracks only, a ban on whipping, competitive racing only after their third birthdays, and other reforms would make a world of difference to the horses.

Why do people prefer putting old dogs or horses or cats to sleep rather than letting them live and die peacefully?

Because no one dies peacefully. Getting out of life is harder than entering it. Important questions to ask yourself are: Is my pet in any pain? Will I be able to bear watching my pet stop moving, and refusing food and water? Is my pet's pain well under control? Have I exhausted all medical options? Am I keeping my pet alive because I need her? Once you have answered these questions, if you come to the conclusion that your pet should leave this life, then pet euthanasia is quick and for the most part painless. But you need to be with him/her till the end. Make sure that they know they are loved and it should be done with the minimum of stress.

Pain management is crucial if you want your pet to die naturally. The problem with pain though is that often cats and dogs tend to hide pain. In cats, pain is a sign of weakness which could make them vulnerable to prey. They, therefore, prefer to hide, rather than manifest it. Dogs are often stoic and will not necessarily manifest pain in obvious ways. Observing for the subtlest signs of pain is important if you chose natural death. Pets don't have to vocalise to be in pain; they may show pain through acting lethargic, losing their appetite, exhibiting behavioural changes and hiding or moving around less. When in doubt, best to see a vet to make an assessment. Blood pressure measurements done by the vet may be helpful indicators, as blood pressure rises when a pet is in pain. Learning about the pet's normal pulse and respiration rate may help recognise pain at home. Rapid breathing and a rapid pulse are all signs of pain. Anti-inflammatory drugs and analgesic drugs prescribed by a vet today can help make a pet more comfortable.

As the pet nears death, he may refuse food and water at some point. This may be difficult to accept, since as pet owners, we were always used to nourish and nurture. Yet, this is a normal stage of death. The body no longer needs fuel as it shuts down. Yet, hydrating the pet may help him be more comfortable.

Do dogs have a favourite family member?

Even though a dog may be close to, and protective of, everyone in his human family pack, often a special bond is established with just one member of the household. While this is typically the person who provides the most time, care and attention, it's not always the case. The dog that bonds with one particular member of the household, is typically happier to see that person than anyone else, viewing the favoured individual as provider, leader, as well as companion. This usually means lowering himself in this person's presence and showing body language; like a rear in the air, wiggling body and flattened ears. Sometimes one member of a household will feel slighted if the family dog doesn't seem to care for him as much as for another household member. Often (but not always), a lack of bonding is due to lack of attention on the part of the human. If attention is paid to the pup, another cause may be behind the lack of bonding. For example, the person plays too rough, only provides attention when he wants it and ignores the pup when he seeks attention. You can certainly help strengthen your bond by taking a hands-on role in feeding, offering treats, giving physical attention and by simply being present. Never yell at, or physically discipline your dog, and be sure to always reward him and praise him when he gives you attention.

So many people enjoy betting for the horse races. Why should such an adrenaline rush giving sport be frowned on by animal welfare people?

Horses weigh more than 450 kgs, are supported by ankles the size of a human's, and are whipped and forced to run around tracks that are often made of hard-packed dirt, at speeds of more than 50 kms per hour, while carrying people on their backs. Racehorses are the victims of a multibillion-dollar industry that is rife with drug abuse, injuries, and race fixing, and many horses' careers end at the slaughterhouse.

Horses begin training, or are already racing, when their skeletal systems are still growing, and are unprepared to handle the pressures of competition racing on a hard track at high speeds. One study on injuries at racetracks concluded that one horse in every 22 races suffered an injury that prevented him or her from finishing a race, while another estimated that three thoroughbreds die every day because of catastrophic injuries during races.

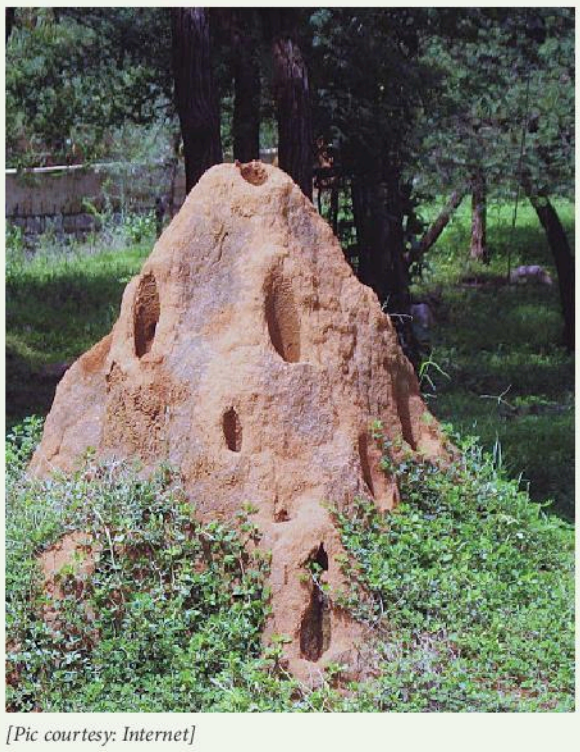
Strained tendons or hairline fractures can be tough for veterinarians to diagnose, and the damage may go from minor to irreversible at the next race or workout. Horses do not handle surgery well, and many are euthanised or sold at auction to save the owners further veterinary fees and other expenses for horses who can't race again. Many racehorse owners simply turn them out on the road to eat at garbage cans till they die. Others sell them as marriage horses who are so misused that they die of shattered eardrums, and over-walking, in one year. Many are sold to snake vaccine companies. Many end up in slaughterhouses where they are turned into dog food and glue. Their flesh is also exported to countries such as France and Japan, where it is considered a delicacy. Trainers and veterinarians keep racing the injured horses, when they should be recovering, by giving them a variety of legal drugs to mask pain and control inflammation. This leads to breakdowns because horses are able to run when, without the drugs, the pain would otherwise prevent them from trying.

Illegal drugs are also widely used. There are trainers pumping horses full of illegal drugs every day. With so much money on the line, people will do anything to make their horses run faster. One trainer was suspended for using a drug similar to Ecstasy in five horses, and another has been kicked off racetracks for using Clenbuterol and, in one case, for having the leg of a euthanised horse cut off "for research." So many horses die every year from being injected with "performance-enhancing drugs" which burst their hearts.

You should not go to the races. While horse racing can never be entirely safe for the animals, a zero-tolerance drug policy, turf (grass) tracks only, a ban on whipping, competitive racing only after their third birthdays, and other reforms would make a world of difference to the horses.

Nagarapanchami tomorrow

'Do not pour milk on anthills, instead feed undernourished'



[Pic courtesy: Internet]

Mysuru, July 26 (SP&US)- "Nagarapanchami will be celebrated as Basavapanchami tomorrow by providing milk to undernourished people instead of pouring it on anthills," said former Mayor Purushotham.

Addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here yesterday, Purushotham said that snakes were carnivores and do not drink milk and added that anthills were not the habitat of snakes. He pointed out that even if a snake stays in an anthill, pouring milk on it would go waste and may just attract ants. Hence, he appealed people not to waste milk on anthills but instead provide that to undernourished people.

Purushotham said that to create awareness among people, Nagarapanchami would be celebrated as Basavapanchami as Basavanna too had advised people not to waste milk by pouring on anthills and the great Social Reformer passed away on Nagarapanchami day. He further said that on that day, milk would be distributed in all taluks to undernourished people.

Manava Bandutva Vedike District Convenor M. Lokesh, Mysuru Taluk Convenor Murudagalli Mahadeva and others were present during the press meet.

"Water Doctor" Ayyappa Masagi unveils innovative technologies to conserve water

NAREDCO launches "Swacha Kaveri" initiative; to prepare vision document and present it to authorities

"Water Warrior" Ayyappa Masagi is seen presenting his innovative ideas for water conservation in city last evening.

Mysuru, July 26 (BCT)- For those who worry about India's water crisis, Ayyappa M. Masagi's solution is simple: Conserve so that it is available aplenty for the next generation. Popularly referred to as "Water Magician," "Water Warrior," "Water Gandhi" and "Water Doctor," Ayyappa Masagi combines rustic intelligence with modern technology and ideas to conserve and utilise water more effectively and efficiently.

Ayyappa Masagi was in the city yesterday to give a presentation on water conservation organised as part of "Swacha Kaveri" initiative launched by Mysuru Chapter of National Real Estate Development Council (NAREDCO) at a private hotel.

In a passionate plea to conserve rainwater, Masagi said that actually there was no shortage of water. "But the attitude of the community, politicians and bureaucracy towards water conservation is disturbing," he said.

Masagi, who has been featured in the Limca Book of Records for constructing thousands of lakes and recharging over 2,000 borewells, is also credited for initiating water conservation projects in more than 4,200 locations. "The traditional concept of "Ingu Gundi" where household water (not sewage) is collected in small pits next to the houses can work wonders in recharging groundwater that is fast depleting," he said.

He founded Water Literacy Foundation and Rain Water Concepts, non-profit organisations, to spread water conservation awareness among masses with the vision of making India a water-efficient nation. "The latest plan of State Government to denotify lakes is just a money-making exercise. We must all oppose it," he said.

With simple language and presentation style marked with humour and anecdotes, Masagi, who quit his job as a mechanical engineer to take up water conservation, said that when India got Independence, it had 47 percent of thick forests which has now been reduced to just 7 percent.

Ayyappa Masagi was born into a family of poor farmers in Gadag district in Karnataka. "In my childhood we faced plenty of water problems. I used to wake up with my mother at 3 am to go and fetch water. This made me to take an oath to try and conserve water every day," he said.

A recipient of Jamnalal Bajaj Award for Application of Science and Technology for Rural Development, Masagi said recharging borewells and practising non-irrigational agriculture methods were the answers to water problems farmers faced. "Concepts like tree-based farming, earthen dams, and afforestation can recharge groundwater. Rain is caused by yellow energy (sun), blue energy (sea) and green energy (trees)," he explained.

Ayyappa Masagi considers earth to be the biggest filter. His idea is to capture rainwater, filter it and then store it underground. "My pit-based rainwater harvesting system is a structure made of boulders, gravel, sand, and mud. When it rains, water trickles through gravel and sand and it slowly charges the subsoil. This also prevents water from evaporating," he said.

Ridiculing the Karnataka government's plan of cloud seeding, Masagi warned, "Please don't go against nature. It will hit back with vengeance and there will be no place for us."

Swacha Kaveri

In his presentation on "Swacha Kaveri," Deepak Lulla said that NAREDCO will take up the responsibility of cleaning River Cauvery. "The ill effects of polluting the river, destroying its water inlets are already showing. The government can't do everything and it is our responsibility to save the river," he said.

Initially, NAREDCO will prepare a vision document and present it to the district administration where ways and means will be suggested to clean the river. "Once we obtain the permission and clearances, the cleaning campaign will be launched," Deepak Lulla said.

Appealing NAREDCO members to join hands by deputing manpower for the cleaning campaign, he said that initiatives will also be launched to educate people along the Cauvery basin on water conservation and ensuring a pollution-free river.

Seconding Deepak Lulla was D. Srihari of GSS Foundation who opined that the student community and the district administration must be involved in the campaign.

"The initiative must also involve planting trees along River Cauvery. With student force and a proactive administration, we can clean the river in one year," he said, pledging support for the initiative.

NAREDCO Mysuru convener N. Divyesh introduced the guests. Member Dhirendra Mehta gave a presentation on Real Estate Regulation and Development Act while Nagesh gave a presentation on home loans.

NAREDCO Karnataka President Manoj Lodha was present.

New Public Library at People's Park in two years

The work is going on at a brisk pace

Mysuru, July 26 (RKB&NNN)- In spite of the long and concerted efforts of Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP) to stop the construction of a Public Library at the People's Park in Nazarbad, the work on the library building has begun a month ago. It is going on at a brisk pace and will be completed in another two years.

All controversies related to the site of the construction has been resolved and the work of levelling the land for the Rs. 5 crore worth project is going on. The soil is loose in the area and to strengthen the foundation new mud is being poured.

The Karnataka Rural Infrastructure Development Limited (KRIDL) has been tasked to construct the 1,809 sq.mtrs modern building within the stipulated time.

The then Mysore Municipality had transferred the khata from the City Improvement Trust Board to the Library Department in 1978. Even before the Park Act was introduced in 1985, the State government in 1980 had passed an order stating that the place belonged to the Department. Even in the Urban Property Ownership Records (UPOR), it is said that the site was reserved for the library department.

"Since all approvals have been obtained from the government, the MUDA and the Heritage Committee of which the Deputy Commissioner is the Chairman, we have taken up the work without any hindrance and anxiety," said City Central Library Deputy Director B. Manjunath.

The State government has already sanctioned Rs. 4.25 crore out of the estimated Rs. 5 crore worth project and Mysore City Corporation has agreed to give the remaining Rs. 75 lakh from the Library Cess collected.

Expressing his confidence of completing the work in another two years, Manjunath told Star of Mysore that they have taken all precautions and submitted the required information to the court.

Mysuru will have a grand Public Library at the People's Park that people will be proud of, he said.

Defence Minister Arun Jaitley later visited the Amar Jawan Jyoti at India Gate, where he joined three Chiefs of the armed forces for the wreath-laying ceremony.

The Kargil conflict in the mountains of Jammu and Kashmir's Ladakh region began after Pakistani troops occupied Indian posts. It took about three months for the Indian forces to recapture the posts.

Tomato prices show downward trend

Mysuru, July 26 (SP&NNN)- People were seeing red, as the prices of tomatoes was inching towards Rs. 100 a kg in the city. However, the prices are dropping as movement of tomatoes to Kerala and TN has been hit, following lorry strike in Kerala.

But the prices have dropped and the green tomato is being sold at Rs. 40 a kg and the red jamoon variety at Rs. 50 to Rs. 55 a kg in Devaraja Market and on streets at Rs. 50 to Rs. 60 a kg, while HOPCOMS is selling it at Rs. 55 a kg. When enquired about their names, the pillion rider informed that he knew only Hindi and hence one of the Police officers showed his identity card and informed them in Hindi that they have to alight from the vehicle as they had to conduct a search.

Immediately the pillion rider jumped and took out the rifle from the bag kept on his lap and fired on the Police squad. Further, another Police squad also joined and overpowered the pillion rider from shooting and apprehended both.

They identified themselves as Pakistani nationals by name Mohammad Ali Hussain and the pillion rider as Mohammad Fahad alias Mohammad Koya alias Neduthani. They were illegally residing at No. 186, 4th Cross, Rajiv Nagar, Udayagiri, Mysore.

Governor-Chancellor keen on new names for Mysore Varsity VC

Mysuru, July 26 - It is a cliché to say that the wait for the 25th Vice-Chancellor of University of Mysore (UoM) is getting longer. Even as hopes are raised, names of the shortlisted aspirants are announced, the process gets stuck and the delay continues.

Governor-Chancellor Vajubhai R. Vala is learnt to have sent back the names of the shortlisted candidates of UoM just as he has done in Bangalore University. He wants a new set of names and according to unverified reports, the Higher Education Department has been asked to send a new list of names.

The Search Committee headed by former VTU Vice-Chancellor Prof H.P. Kincha and three other members had met in Bengaluru on July 6 to propose the names for the VC post. It is 20 days now and according to sources, it will take a few more weeks to finalise the names if the Governor insists on a new list as the Search Committee has to meet again to finalise a set of new names.

According to a former VC, the Higher Education Department has to first cross check the credentials of the aspirants before they are shortlisted and only then place it before the Search Committee. However, the Search Committee can still ask for cross verification of the antecedents of the aspirants and then only finalise the names of the aspirants.

The sources in the Higher Education Department said that they have received a letter from the Governor's office to send a new list of names. A Syndicate Member of UoM told Star of Mysore on condition of anonymity that there is no such information in the University here about the changes in the list of the three shortlisted candidates.

DC instructs panel to submit report

The DC instructed the committee to discuss on the issues and come out with a pre-feasibility report within a week and added that a Detailed Project Report (DPR) would be submitted through Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) to the government for approval.

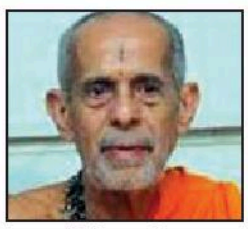
The meeting discussed the construction of basic facilities such as toilets at the Lake premises. Randeep urged University of Mysore to utilise the remaining funds of Rs. 1.35 crore out of Rs. 3 crore released by Lake Development Authority (Rs. 1 crore) and Tourism Department (Rs. 2 crore) for construction of toilets and make the service free of cost. He also suggested that University could also handover the facility to private companies for maintenance under the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) programme.

KSPCB Environmental Scientist Geetha, University of Mysore Engineering Department Executive Engineer Kishore Chandra, Assistant Executive Engineer Shivalingaprasad, Kukkarahalli Lake Protection Committee Convenor Prof. K.M. Jayaramaiah and others were present.

Who is Pejawar Seer to meddle with Lingayats? Asks Minister

Siddharamaiah

M.B. Patil



Pejawar Seer

Bengaluru, July 26- A faction of the Lingayat community, who had gathered in Bidar on July 18, revived the demand for the formation of a separate religion for Lingayats. This has resulted in a controversy as Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has responded positively to their demand. And following the CM's comments, former CM and BJP State President B.S. Yeddyurappa said that Siddharamaiah was dividing the Lingayat community.

Now it is the turn of Water Resources Minister M.B. Patil to jump into the fray by saying that Lingayat community had all the distinct characteristics to qualify as a separate religion. Patil, who belongs to the Lingayat community, said yesterday that the demand for the status of an independent religion was not new.

Taking exception to a statement issued by Pejawar Seer Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji that Lingayats are part of the Hindu religion, he said, "Let the Udupi Seer not meddle with Lingayats. We can look for guidance and advice from towering religious personalities among the Lingayats, including that of Siddaganga, Suttur, Muruga Mutts and other Lingayat heads."

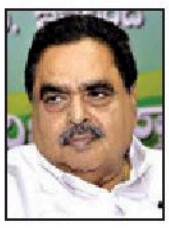
The Seer had said Lingayats and Veerashaivas are parts of Hinduism as they worship Lord Shiva and should stop all chaos to shed Hinduism aiming at the benefits available for the minorities. The Seer said that the Lingayat and Veerashaiva community people should not talk about separation from Hinduism as they are an integral part of the Hindu religion. Explaining that the Lingayat religion came into existence during the 12th century, Minister Patil asserted that Lingayat was a separate religion like Christianity, Jainism, Buddhism and Sikhism or Islam.

"Basavanna had floated the Lingayat religion which was more radical and inclusive in nature. It has distinctive characteristics of equality and respect for all sections in the society. The Vachanas scripted by various noble persons and votaries of Basavanna are the religious scripts of Lingayats," he said.

Asked about his opinion on Yeddyurappa, who is opposed to the idea, he said, "Yeddyurappa is under the clutches of the RSS, which is against conferring the status of a separate religion for Lingayats. If he (Yeddyurappa) comes out of the influence of RSS, he will also support a separate religion tag for Lingayats."

Meanwhile, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has said in Bengaluru that he has not received any representation or appeal by Lingayat community to consider it as a separate religion. "I have not received any representation and without that how can I recommend anything," he said.

Will Ramanath Rai be the new Home Minister?



Bengaluru, July 26- Forest Minister and Mangaluru District in-Charge Minister B. Ramanath Rai (in pic) has reportedly been asked to take over Home Department. If reports are to be believed, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has asked Rai to take over the Home Department. While the rumours are flying thick and fast, there is no official announcement yet in this regard.

Rai's closed-door meeting with the CM late yesterday fuelled speculation that he may be named the next Home Minister. According to sources, an initially reluctant Rai agreed to take up the responsibility after being persuaded by the CM that he should do so as a senior member of the Cabinet. After Dr. G. Parameshwara was re-elected as the President of KPCC, the CM was handling the Home portfolio apart from other portfolios. However, after recent incidents of communal clash in coastal region, especially in Bantwal, the CM wanted to find the right candidate for the Department.

Earlier reports had suggested that Ramalinga Reddy was the first choice but Reddy too reportedly turned down the offer. Later, Siddharamaiah had suggested Labour Minister Santhosh Lad for the Home portfolio. Since Lad too was not keen on the portfolio, Siddharamaiah has now reportedly zeroed in on Rai, say reports.

Farmers lay siege to CNN office in Mandya

Form human chain, demand water to canals

Mandya, July 26 (NG&US)- Demanding water to canals and lakes, about 100 farmers including women, under the aegis of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) laid siege to the office of Cauvery Neeravari Nigam (CNN) near Sanjay Circle here. They also sought stoppage of release of Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu.

Earlier to that, the farmers formed a human chain at Sanjay Circle disrupting traffic on Mysuru-Bengaluru Road for 30 minutes. Later they went in a procession to the CNN office and got the office gate closed and locked venting their protest.

Yesterday too the farmers had staged a novel protest at Koppa Circle in Shivapura near Maddur by performing 'Shirasasana' at the Circle which had disrupted traffic on the highway for over 30 minutes. The siege at CNN office had continued when we went into press as the officer there wanted the higher-ups to arrive to discuss with the farmers.

Preparations for 71st Independence Day begins

DC D. Randeep chairing a preliminary meeting on I-Day celebrations yesterday. Kannada and Culture Asst. Director H. Chennappa, Nehru Yuva Kendra Co-ordinator M.N. Nataraj and others are seen.

Mysuru, July 26 (PM&NNN)- Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep chaired a preliminary meeting of officials involved in the preparation for the 71st Independence Day celebrations to be held on August 15 at the Bannimantap Torch Light Parade Grounds. The meeting was held at his office, here yesterday.

Plastic flags banned: He instructed the officials to see that the national flag is clean; there is no mistake in choosing the correct flag colours, see that it is not hoisted upside down and a complete ban on usage of plastic flags.

A few of the social activists who participated in the meeting pointed out that last year plastic flags were being sold in Shivarampet and other areas. Randeep asked the Corporation officials present to visit Shivarampet and take action against the shopkeepers selling plastic flags and to even seize them if they find it.

Honouring freedom fighters: Every year five freedom fighters are being honoured for which there is a sub-committee to select them. He asked the committee to take a decision on the names of freedom fighters.

Close ATMs without security: DC

Deputy Commissioner (DC) D. Randeep has asked the Managers of Banks to shut down the ATMs if they cannot provide security or if they have non-functioning CCTVs.

Addressing a meeting of various Bank Managers, earlier in the day yesterday, he said that wherever the ATMs do not have security guards or the CCTVs are not working, such ATMs should be closed.

DCP Dr. Vikram V. Amathe said that there was a problem in a few ATMs because of their locations which were attached to homes. In such places the security was also assigned to the owners of the houses. Hence, there is laxity in the security. He asked the Bank officials to see that only approved security agencies should be given contract to man the ATMs.

He also assured the bankers to increase beat patrolling in the branches with ATMs and also where the currency chests are located. A Manager from SBI, T. Narasipur branch complained that the hotline was not working for more than a year. DC Randeep immediately called the BSNL to see that the problem is set right.

It's official, A.H. Vishwanath to be JD(S) candidate from Hunsur

Hunsur, July 26- Weeks after JD(S) leader H.D. Revanna's son Prajwal's suitcase culture remark tarnished the image of the party and demoralised workers, party's State President H.D. Kumaraswamy declared yesterday former MP Adagooru H. Vishwanath as the JD(S) candidate from Hunsur Assembly segment.

Participating in a massive road show to drum up support for Vishwanath in Hunsur yesterday, Kumaraswamy apologised for the confusion that was created after Prajwal's outbursts. "There is no mistake in inducting Vishwanath into the JD(S). The 2018 elections will give a befitting reply to Chief Minister Siddharamaiah who is making cheap remarks on Vishwanath and the JD(S)," he said.

Keeping MLA G.T. Devegowda who was eyeing the Hunsur seat for his son G.D. Harish Gowda, in good humour, Kumaraswamy tried to iron out the differences. "JD(S) workers should consider Vishwanath as the family member of former Minister G.T. Devegowda and work for his victory setting aside all differences," he said.

Fighting the perception in the Vokkaliga community that Vishwanath was anti-Vokkaliga, Kumaraswamy said that the former MP had criticized the leaders based on issues and it was not personal. He said Vishwanath didn't commit the grave mistake like CM Siddharamaiah, who insulted former PM H.D. Deve Gowda even when he was promoted by Gowda.

On farmers, Kumaraswamy said, if elected back to power, he would run the Government based on the suggestions of progressive farmers. He said, he will waive all loans of farmers, adopt Israel model of farming, employ people to plant saplings, provide organic seeds, manure and implement Swaminathan Committee recommendations.

Clarifying that there was no suitcase culture in the JD(S), he dared the rebel MLAs and Chief Minister Siddharamaiah to order a probe into the charges made by a few rebels. Claiming that he is in active politics for people, he urged the rebel MLAs to stop making baseless charges against the JD(S) which has given everything to them.

CONTROLLER OF ADMINISTRATION

WORD OF THE DAY

Polemic

Pronunciation: puh-lem-ik, poh-

Meaning: A controversial argument, as one against some opinion, doctrine, etc; a person who argues in opposition to another; controversialist; of or relating to a polemic; controversial. Also, polemical.

Origin: Polemic comes from the Greek adjective polemikós, a derivative of the noun pólemos "war, battle" in the strict sense and not as in, say "war of words." The adjective is also restricted to warfare. The current (and only) senses "controversial, controversialist," first appear in Middle French in the late 16th century and in English as an adjective and noun in the early 17th century.

THE ODD WORD

Impudicity

Shamelessness.

IDIOM OF THE DAY

Every dog has its day

Meaning: Every dog, and by implication every person, has a period of power or influence.

Origin: This phrase is recorded as being first uttered by no less a notable as Queen Elizabeth I. As Princess Elizabeth, in a letter to her brother and in response to his request for a picture of her, she wrote: Notwithstanding, as a dog hath a day, so may I perchance have time to declare it in deeds.

The letter was published by John Strype in Ecclesiastical Memorials, 1550. It appears that Elizabeth was merely quoting what was in her day already a well-known proverb, although no record of it has been found that predates her writing it down. John Heywood recorded the proverb in the 1562 edition of Proverbs and Epigrams and Shakespeare used it in Hamlet, 1603:

Let Hercules himself do what he may,
The cat will mew and dog will have his day.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: Thought is only a flash between two long nights, but this flash is everything.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

ONDU MOTTEYA KATHE revolves around Janardhan, a Mangaluru based 28-year-old Kannada lecturer, who starts looking for a bride after an astrologer tells him that if he doesn't get married within one year, he will become a Sanyasi. In his quest for finding the 'would be' bride he faces many rejections and conflicts but in the process he connects with his inner self.
